Very nice-sized and on heavy stock, they will be great for mailing Christmas greetings to friends at the lower postcard rate. What delighted me most was one of the illustrations it is of a beaming little girl wearing a pink smock and holding a white poodle. She's in front of a Christmas tree and the dog was obviously her Christmas present. I remembered this picture immediately! On the back it says, Unknown magazine illustration 1959. The picture was in McCall's Magazine when I was a child, and I so wanted to be that little girl. I think there was a story associated with the picture too. Thanks for a wonderful product. I considered buying two sets but wasn't sure if I would like the quality. But these exceed my expectations. A few of the drawings are a little odd, but nothing I wouldn't mail out to a friend. 11 of 11 people found the following review helpful. This is perfect for my collection. By cage I wanted Christmas postcards to use for postcrossing. I'm glad I got this. The postcards are bigger and thicker than the usual postcards I get. It has a big space to write your message and also for the address side. The images or the pictures are all different. Some are vintage looking and some are whimsical. I'm very happy with the quality overall. 4 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Quality is good, but selection was poor. By L. Wylde These are big and give you lots of space to write. They're also a nice thickness and rip out of the book easily. However, I didn't love the images. There were only about 6 or 7 great ones that I really liked and actually sent. The rest were just not a good selection of images at all and I ended up buying another product.

Animals are an important, but often overlooked, part of Christmas. From the Nativity onwards they have been part of the family celebration. From its extensive collection of children's picture books the Laughing Elephant has selected thirty illustrations featuring a wide variety of animals at Christmas. The detachable postcards are suitable for short Christmas correspondence, party invites, thank you notes, any myriad of other uses, or as a small art book to be kept intact and enjoyed every season. Among the many fine illustrators included are: Early American illustrator E. Boyd Smith Caldecott honor winner Helen Sewell English luminary Margaret Tarrant Postcard illustrator extraordinaire

Charles Twelvetrees American bear expert Frank Verbeck Illustrator of the Peter Rabbit comic Harrison Cady
