

#1083167 in Books 1995-05-01Ingredients: Example IngredientsOriginal language:EnglishPDF # 1 10.25 x .44 x 7.00l, #File Name: 0826315763199 pages | File size: 69.Mb

Marian E. Rodee

*audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC

(Library ebook) One Hundred Years of Navajo Rugs

One Hundred Years of Navajo Rugs

Marian E. Rodee : One Hundred Years of Navajo Rugs before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised One Hundred Years of Navajo Rugs:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Informative Book - Good service from sellerBy rick burdineReally enjoyed this book. Delivery was prompt and as promised.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy Joan S.Beautiful pictures. Interesting history about the rugs.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. One Hundred Years of Navajo RugsBy Glenn E. KellerThis is an excellent book for the beginning collector of Navajo Rugs. I would recommend it to anyone who wants or is collecting rugs.

This history of Navajo weaving is a revised, expanded, and updated version of Marian Rodee's 1981 classic Old Navajo Rugs: Their Development from 1900 to 1940. Designed for the general reader, museum goer, or collector, it offers a guide to identifying and dating rugs by means of weaving materials. Wool quality, the author explains, is the single most important clue to the date of a rug's manufacture. Rodee also provides historical background on the great Navajo weavers and especially on the traders who bought rugs from the Navajo--Cotton, Moore, Hubbell, Bloomfield, McSparron, and others--all of whom had some influence on the development of the craft and patterns of Navajo weaving. Since the first edition of this book, more information about more collections of rugs has become available, and this new edition includes a greatly expanded section of color plates in addition to sixty-four black-and-white photographs. Rodee has also added a map of the Navajo Nation showing the location of trading posts and outlet stores.

For anyone who enjoys looking at Navajo rugs, and especially for those considering buying them, this book is an indispensable and informative guide.

About the Author Marian Rodee was curator of southwestern ethnology at the Maxwell Museum of Anthropology at the University of New Mexico. She is retired and is now a research associate at the Museum of Indian Arts and Culture in Santa Fe.